DESIRE to SERVE—PLUS ABILITY

REV. W. H. IRWIN TO LEAVE BELLEVUE

A the closing session of the Alberta Conference of the United Church in Calgary on Monday, the settlement committee announced changes of ministers, which will take effect July 1, also the fact that 35 pastoral charges will be without ministers, among which is Bellevue. Rev. W. H. Irwin will move to Hanna.

Rev. Irwin was also named convener of the evangelism and social service committee.

UNITED CHURCH LADIES ENTERTAIN

On Wednesday, May 28, a social evening was held in the auditorium of the church when the Ladies Aid entertained the women of the church.

Mrs. Boorman was chairman of the program committee and due to her usual efficient manner there was not a dull moment between contests, games and community singing. Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. S. G. Bannan and Mrs. Alfred McKay. The final part of the program was a one-act skit, composed and directed by Mrs. M. McDonald, with nine members of the Aid taking part, namely, Mesdames Bannan, Murray, McKay, Morgan, Erickson, J. Wolstenholme, Patterson, Moore, and F. Wolstenholme.

The guests were then invited to the gymnasium, where tables had been arranged and decorated with spring flowers. Seventy-five guests sat down to a dainty repast.

Rev. J. McKelvey, the minister, then addressed the gathering, voicing his appreciation of the wonderful response to the Ladies Aid effort. While still seated at the tables, more singing was indulged in, closing with "Good night Ladies." Everyone present voiced the opinion that this was one of the happiest and most pleasant evenings ever spent in the Blairmore United church.

MILK INSPECTOR SOUNDS WARNING TO PASS RESIDENTS

A warning has been issued to Cow's Nest Pass residents on the danger of purchasing milk cows which are infected with Bang's disease. M. D. Phillips, milk inspector stationed at Lethbridge, has recently completed a survey in the Cow's Nest Pass. While there he discovered that dairy cows at the various homes were unprotected against Bang's disease, although about 25 per cent of the animals were TB tested.

The survey included 90 animals at Maple Leaf, Bellevue-River Bottom, Peaceful Valley and Bush-ton, districts where most of the cows are pastured together, making infection an ever present possibility if diseased animals are introduced from the outside.

A recent outbreak of Undulant fever at Cranbrook underlines the necessity of warning the public of watching for signs of Bang's disease in herds and individual cows and refusing to buy animals so infected. Bang's disease manifests itself in human beings in the shape of Undulant fever, and pasteurization of all milk supplies is the best method to prevent its spread.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Telfer were motor visitors to Nelson and district for Victoria Day week end.

Man starts nine-tenths of all our forest fires, lightning only one-tenth. Most people are afraid of lightning, but foresters are more afraid of people.

Roy Costigan, K.C. and Mrs. Costigan, of Stettin are Calgary visitors this week enroute from Banff where they spent the weekend with their son Dr. P. T. Costigan. Their son William accompanied them will remain in the Mountain resort for some time—Calgary Alberta.

REX CAFE TAKEN OVER BY THREE LOCAL MEN

This week end will see a change in ownership at the Rex Cafe and on Monday, June 2, three local men, George Low, Charlie Pilford and Norman Walker, will take over active management. The cafe, which has been operated the past year by Max Brown and Lew Williams, will be closed on June 1 in order to make the change-over.

The new owners are well known and have grown up here, receiving their education at the local school. While the venture is new to Charlie Pilford and Norman Walker, it is not the case with George Low, who has practically grown up in restaurant atmosphere, being ward of Herbie and Ray Mah while they operated the Royal and Rex cafes. Pilford is son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Pilford and Walker son of Mr. and Mrs. Danay Walker, both families being long residents of Blairmore.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement and we bespeak a goodly portion of your patronage for these young men starting out in business.

MODEL TOWN PLANNED FOR SPARWOOD, B.C.

Crows Nest Pass Coal Company's plan of establishing a model townsite west of Nain on the Sparwood area on which new and modern homes will be built and a carefully laid out plan for wide streets, proper residential areas, sewerage, water and light facilities, park, etc. is now on the eve of fulfillment as the plan has met with the approval of Central Housing & Mortgage Corporation, and the contract has been awarded. Work will start in the near future just as soon as cement is available in good supply. The coal company owns Sparwood area where six modern and beautiful homes are already built and occupied. These homes are on the right side of No. 3 highway driving west. The area where the above townsite will be built is directly across the highway from these homes and directly facing them.

It is proposed to demolish these homes in "Centre town" between Michel and Natal and the occupants of the homes have the opportunity of moving to Sparwood where lots will be sold to them at $1 each, measuring 60' x 120'. At the present time twenty applications have been received for homes and in addition the coal company shall build ten. In regard to the latter these homes will be sold outright upon completion and will not be rented. It is estimated that $140,000 of construction is ready to start at the present moment.

All the company employees desiring to build their own home in the Sparwood area are being encouraged to do so. In addition to practically giving their employees the lots free the company goes further by helping to provide at reduced rates all the framing material and sheeting prepared at its own sawmill.

The homes will be built on a floor plan which holds regular throughout all the homes to be built on the townsite. However it is permissible to change the exterior designs so that all the homes shall not have the same appearance. The building regulation as they apply to the townsite will be strictly adhered to and no shacks will be allowed. All homes must have inside plumbing.

As the townsite is being built up a community committee, along the same lines as a town council, will be set up and will have the power to determine what business establishments will be permitted to operate in the townsite.

The Sparwood area is located on a beautiful stretch of flat ground and is surrounded with trees. No coal dust or smoke is near to mar its beauty and if all construction is made to conform to plan then the Sparwood area will become a model for all new mining towns in western Canada.

INFANT SUFFERS FROM RARE SICKNESS

It has been brought to the attention of Coleman Lodge of the Order of Royal Purple that a young Coleman infant, 2-year-old Patricia Lord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lord, nee Olive Dadds, suffers from a very rare sickness and that life depends on her being taken to Rochester at the earliest possible moment in an attempt to save her life.

When the child first became ill a few months ago it was examined by one of the local doctors who found that her condition necessitated the attention of a specialist and recommended that she be taken to Calgary. The child has been in a Calgary hospital for several weeks where her sickness was diagnosed as a very rare disease and one that could only be treated with any hope of success at Rochester.

The parents returned home and let their plight be known to friends who in turn informed the officers of the Order of the Royal Purple. The officers at once set machinery in motion after having confirmed the seriousness of the child's sickness through Dr. Lissner who received a report from Calgary on the child's condition. A special meeting was held by the Lodge members on Monday evening at which time it was agreed to sponsor a dance and make a concerted effort to sell as many tickets as possible at 50c each. In addition local organizations are to be asked to subscribe funds towards the expense of the Rochester trip.

The appeal is not to apply only to organizations but to citizens generally. Honored Royal Lady Nora Goulding of the Order of Royal Purple Lodge, those desiring to aid the infant in the battle for its life need only give their donations to the Fund in care of the Lodge who will be only too pleased to take charge of the Appeal.—Coleman Journal.

THE TREND

Prof. Albert Einstein may be regarded as omniscient on the subject of the atom bomb, since his initial research made it possible. But he does not regard himself as all-knowing. The other evening he was asked by friends what new weapons might be employed in World War III. He shook his head, and after several minutes of meditation, said, "I don't know what weapons might be used in World War III. But there isn't any doubt what weapons will be used in World War IV."

"And what are those?" a guest asked.

"Strong spears," said Einstein.—Boston Globe.

We hear that they are not going to let Bill talk to Mary any more.

The bridesmaid, Miss Merna Braden, wore a pink jersey and matching accessories with a corsage of pink and white carnations. The groom was attended by Mr. Donald Armstrong, of Bellevue.

Little Allan Ash, brother of the bride, was ring-bearer and Marian Ash flower-girl. During the signing of the register Mrs. William Harvey sang "Because."

A reception followed and places were laid for the immediate friends and relatives. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake and decorated with vases of roses. Mr. Norman Ash proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Harry Wolstenholme, Penitence, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mel-drum, Magrath, Alberta.

The bride and groom left by car for a honeymoon at Spokane, Washington, and Penitence, where they will visit the groom's parents. Upon their return the happy couple will reside in Bellevue where the groom is employed.—Coleman Journal.

"Sister," said the deacon severely, "you should avoid even the appearance of evil."

"Why, what do you mean?" asked the woman, anxiously.

The deacon eyed her sternly.

"I observe," he said, "that on your sideboard you have several cut-glass decanters and that each is half-filled with what appears to be ardent spirits."

"But, deacon," she protested, "it isn't anything of the kind. The bottles look so pretty on the sideboard that I filled them half-way with a mixture of floor-sweep and furniture polish, just for the sake of appearances."

"That's why I'm cautioning you, sister," said the deacon. "Feeling a trifle faint, I helped myself to a dose from the big decanter in the middle,"

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

INSPIRATION

By MAUDE NORMAN

MARY STARR finished putting the dishes away, took off her apron and went out to the front porch. She glanced anxiously toward the bright top of her husband's cigarette showed in the darkness.

"It gets dark earlier now, doesn't it," she remarked.

"Yes, that's right. Anything interesting happen today?"

James threw his cigarette over the railing. "Oh, sure, I had a very interesting day," he mocked. "As usual I took the seven-thirty-five to town. I sold, or tried to sell suits. I took the six-thirty home as I have for the last six years. I walked down the same street, past houses so much alike I have to count them to be sure I turn in the right one. I ate hash and bread-pudding. Tomorrow night it will be stew or beans. Oh, yes, I had a very interesting day."

Mary listened in silence. She knew what he said was true. Somewhere along the way they had lost the star that makes labor for loved ones a joy. But where?

"Perhaps if you started writing again you might sell something," she ventured.

"Write?" she snorted. "I'm so tired at night I don't have an idea in my head. I do the same thing day in and day out, world without end, amn, and you think I can write. Write about what?"

He went into the house, slamming the door.

A few tears stole down Mary's cheeks. She had failed. All the high hopes she had entertained when they were married of being an inspiration to a promising young author were gone. Two babies demanded a lot of care and attention. James had to do work he despised to provide for them. "Perhaps he does still love me," she thought. "But he is used to me. He needs something exciting to happen. Something to stir him up. He needs romance and I'm about as romantic as an old shoe. I can't give him romance—or can I?"

James came to the door. "Come on in," he said gruffly. "I'm sorry for what I said. It's hard on you, too, having a failure for a husband."

The next morning Mary raced through her work, washed and dressed the baby, settled three-year-old Shirley in the sand-box to play, then got out her typewriter.

Two days later James received a letter, a delicately scented missive that Mary handed to him without a word.

"Dear Mr. Starr," the letter began. "About seven years ago I was confronted with a serious problem that a story of yours, 'Stella's Solution,' helped me to solve successfully. I should have written and thanked you then, only that I knew how men in your position are deluged with letters."

I suppose you wonder why I am writing now, but in looking over some old magazines that came in for the veterans hospital I found a poem of yours, entitled 'Spring.' It made such an impression on me, that I am obeying an impulse and an urging to tell you, that with your insight into human nature and your great understanding you must have helped me to solve my problem. Thank you for myself and for them.

Sincerely,
Justine Owen.

James did not show the letter to Mary and she asked no questions. No more letters came to the house, although she knew he had answered. He began writing every evening, re-typing and sometimes rewriting the stories he had written and laid aside. Shortly after sending out his first story a check came for twenty-five dollars, not much, but enough to encourage him.

Mary rejoiced at the change in him, especially after he sold no more stories until one day going through the pockets of a suit she was sending to the cleaners, she found a note.

"Darling! There I have said it and say it again. Darling! I love you. Does that seem strange? But why should it? Your letters, carefully worded though they are, tell me you love me too. Name a place where I can meet you. Your postoffice address makes you seem so far away."

You mentioned responsibilities. In all this world there are only two things that matter. You, and the fact that I love you and will love you forever. You are my inspiration. Hopefully, James.

James found Mary unusually silent that evening. Although he tried to interest her in the day's happenings, she busied herself feeding the children and barely answered him. After the dishes were washed and the children in bed, he lay awake at the foot of the stairs.

"I told another story," he said. "Looks like I can write after all."

"That's nice," she answered briefly, trying to pass him.

"Aren't you glad?" "Of course I am." "Then what's the matter?"

Mary handed him the note she had found in his pocket. "I wasn't snooping," she said. "I found this when I emptied the pockets of your grey suit when I sent it to the cleaners."

James took the note. "It was hoping you would find it pretty soon," he grinned.

Mary burst into tears. "You heartless thing," she sobbed. "I know I'm no beauty and I've worn myself to a frazzle, taking care of your children and your home, but to have you tell another woman you love her, and stand there and grin about it! Well, I hate you, James Starr. You're a beast, that's what you are so there!"

"Well, I like that! I write you a lovely letter, telling you how much I love you and you call me a beast."

"WHAT?"

"I hope you don't think I'm as dense as I appeared to be. Oh, at first I fell for it. Long enough to tell a story and get a little self-confidence. Then I became curious to see the lady who wrote such lovely letters. A trip or two to the post office soon showed me she was someone I knew very well indeed. I kept up the writing rag, though, because I knew you enjoyed it."

And you don't think I'm silly, do you? I only wanted to give you a little romantic interest. I thought it would help you."

"It certainly did help me, Silly. After you dragged me out of a black pit of self-pity and despair I meant every word I wrote," he kissed her gently. "You really are my inspiration."

Irrigation Plans For The West

MEDICINE HAT—Formulation of plans which it is hoped will lead to increased irrigation throughout western Canada, with a resultant rise in productivity of the land, was discussed here at a meeting which saw the birth of a new reclamation association for western Canada.

At present taking in only Alberta and Saskatchewan the organization will hold another meeting in Lethbridge July 11-12 at which Manitoba and British Columbia will be invited to participate.

Concerned with seeing that farmers can produce crops under as favorable conditions as possible, the association's main objective will be to strive for extensive irrigation throughout regions in the west where proper water channeling can greatly increase output.

The need for an organization which can effectively work towards increased soil fertility was indicated recently through statistics by Dr. A. G. McCall of the University of Alberta. He said that during the period stretching from 1921 to 1943 drought struck southeastern Alberta 50 per cent. of the time.

Through proper irrigation it has been estimated that drought years can be eliminated and farmers, through selective crops, can greatly increase the income they would be making even in normal years.

Instead of grossing approximately $20 an acre from a dry land wheat crop farmers could gross between $120 and $380 an acre on watered land raising vegetable canning crops and from $125 to $225 raising sugar beet crops.

L. B. Thomson, superintendent of the Swift Current, Sask., Experiment Farm, said that the association "will do the trick" in providing farmers with necessary security during periods which normally would be drought years.

He described the main problem as water conservation, not soil conditions. "It takes two inches of water to grow one bushel of grain."

MOUSE MAKES COZY NEST WITH DOLLAR BILLS

For many weeks John Trett, Englewood, Ill., couldn't figure out just why $1 and $5 bills were missing from the cash register in his cafe. One day, however, he suddenly punched open a drawer and surprised a guinea pig sitting in the till with a $1 bill in its paws. The mouse fed before Trett's surprised gaze. Curious, the cafe man dismantled the cash register and discovered the missing greenbacks. They were being used by the mouse to make a cozy nest behind the drawer.

CIGARETTE IS GOLD FOR THE TAX COLLECTOR

Smoking has become more than a habit—it's a national resource. To the tax collector, every wispy whirling cloud of the cigarette's waste product is spun gold.

While it does not show in the cost-of-living index, smoking is perhaps the most inflated item in the average citizens' daily budget. All of that inflation has been tax-induced.

In most provinces cigarette's will currently for 33 cents for a package of 20.

Of that price 12 cents is for federal "excise tariff".

That's just about twice what the manufacturer goes for the finished product.

But to his price (6.13 cents) and the 12-cent tariff is added the eight-per cent sales tax, accounting for another 1 1/2 cents.

To make certain the smoker did his bit in financing the war, Ottawa charged him an extra two cents for cigarettes, or eight cents a pack —"war revenue tax".

Thus, 21 1/2 cents of the 33-cent
price is strictly for the government.
But there is more.

The remaining 11 1/2 cents is divided among the tobacco grower, the manufacturer, the transportation companies, the wholesaler and the retailer.

Out of it comes those direct major taxes for which Ottawa has been battling the provinces—income and corporation profits taxes plus unemployment insurance tax, the motor and gasoline taxes, property and business taxes. Together these account for an estimated 3.6 cents.

Therefore, each time a smoker spends 33 cents, all but eight cents goes for taxes, most of it into the federal treasury—Toronto Globe and Mail.

CALGARY EXHIBITION AND STAMPEDE COMPANY

Opening July 7th with an hour-long parade, revamped to give a dramatic picture of the Old West, the 62nd annual Calgary Stampede is expected to break all prize and attendance records during the 1947 season.

This year commercial floats will be eliminated from the Monday morning Stampede Parade, to create a spectacle that is entirely Western.
Officials of the annual show said that communities from outside Calgary have been most co-operative in agreeing to sponsor parade exhibits indicative of the past or present life of their community. Residents of rural areas have also assisted in locating old-time vehicles—Red River carts, Conestoga wagons, stage coaches and prairie schooners—for display in the Parade.

Prize money for infant events is the greatest ever offered in Canada, and is expected to draw cowboys from as far south as the Rio Grande and as far north as the Peace River country.
Money offered for bucking stock has been substantially increased, and all horses to buck under saddle will be damned out the week before the show under the supervision of Arena Director Dick Cosgrave. Thus only proven buckers will be used by contestants.

With a record-breaking purse of $7,500 offered in the chuck wagon races, the rangeland derby—the only race of its kind in the world expects an all-time high in the number of entries.

Prize money for livestock is being maintained at last year's record-breaking figure, with special prizes offered by the Alberta Horse Breeders' Association combined with those given by the Exhibition Company in the heavy horse classes. Included among livestock judges are S. P.
Gould of Rosalia and John Wilson Jr. of Innisfail who will judge Hereford cattle and sheep respectively.
Stampede Week will also feature an auction sale of Hampshire and Suffolk rams, and ewes on Wednesday night, with a display of prize-winning livestock Friday morning.

Other highlights of the week will be a nightly vaudeville presentation in front of the grandstand; a 60-car midway supplied by the Royal American Shows of Tampa, Florida; Indian village; running race; every afternoon, including the $1,000-purse Calgary Juvenile Stakes for two-year-olds foaled in western Canada; and fireworks displays on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

A program of morning street entertainment is also being planned, and chuck wagon outfits will be down town every morning to serve flap-jacks to the public.

The Stampede Accommodation Bureau will operate to provide sleeping accommodation for those unable to secure rooms in hotels and tourist cabins, and Calgary citizens are already offering to throw their homes open to visitors in the city during Stampede Week.

BIG TOURIST SEASON AHEAD!

THE THOMPSONS are busy as bees, getting their place in shape for the tourist season. This year, with three more cabins, electricity and a modernized kitchen, they hope to do even better than before.

They were able to make these additions because last fall Mr. Thompson drove to town to see his bank manager.
He knew about the nice little business the Thompsons had built up; a bank loan was quickly arranged.

Now the Thompsons can handle more tourists and increase their income. At the same time Canada will benefit from the extra tourist dollars they take in.

The ice is still THIN!

Even though the "Danger" signs of inflation can be taken down now, they have to be replaced with signs reading, "Proceed With Caution." The ice is still too thin for any Canadian to tell himself,
"Now, at last, I can go ahead and buy everything I want."

We can't—yet. But we can proceed to enjoy—in moderation —many of the goods and services which were so long in short supply. These good things are ours at moderate prices now because we were moderate in our demands before.

Today, Canadians can indeed be proud of one of this country's finest possessions, which is, as The House of Seagram has long contended, this nation's policy of moderation in all things—in its thinking, in its buying and in its personal habits.

THE SEAGRAM GOLD CUP

The Canadian Open Golf Championship, for the Seagram Gold Cup and $10,000 in prize money, is still several weeks away but already the entry list begins to look like a Who's Who of North American golfing greats. A classy field seems assured for the 38th annual Open over Toronto's Scarborough course July 16-19.

Heading the list of ranking U.S. entries are three of the five leaders in the recent Masters' Tournament at Augusta, Georgia. With its entry list carefully restricted to the winners of certain other major tournaments, the Masters' is recognized as one of the most exclusive of all top U.S. tournaments.

Jimmy Demaret, of Texas won the Masters' and immediately filed his entry for the Canadian Open. Jim Ferrier, former Australian champion and British amateur winner in 1936, placed third and also indicated he would be on hand for the Canadian event. Frank Stranahan, colorful Cleveland amateur, wound up in second spot at the Masters' and promptly wired the Royal Canadian Golf Association with his entry.

The R.C.G.A. has yet to hear from Byron Nelson, winner of the Seagram Gold Cup two years ago, who wound up in a second-place tie with Ferrier at Augusta. However, Nelson has announced that he will stay out of tournament play this summer and there is little likelihood that he will change his mind.

Even if Nelson doesn't make it, the tournament seems assured of having at least two previous winners on hand.

Gene Kunes of Hollywood, Florida, who took the Gold Cup and top prize money in 1935 at Montreal Summerland has filed his entry, after several years away from competitive play through illness. And little George Fazio of California, who took the Canadian title at Montreal Beaconsfield a year ago will be back to defend his cup.

As a matter of fact, most of last year's top finishers are entries this summer. In addition to Fazio, entries have been filed by Dick Metz, who was beaten out by a single stroke by Fazio in a spectacular 18-hole playoff, San Leonard, of Vancouver, Harry Todd and Lloyd Mangrum, U.S. open champion. Leonard, Mangrum and Todd ended regular play a stroke behind Fazio and Metz a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Pitt, of Calgary, returned home after a week's stay in Blairmore. They were down to attend the funeral of Mr. Pitt's father, whom passed away on May 9. Mr. Pitt was an old timer of the Crown Nest Pass.

Two Years Of Peace

THE WAR HAS NOW BEEN OVER for two years and we appear to be still far from attaining the security and the well ordered economy which so many people hoped would follow the final defeat of our enemies. Looking back, it must be admitted that perhaps there was too much optimism in regard to a rapid return to settled conditions. In view of the tremendous number of displaced persons, and the great havoc to homes and industries resulting from the methods of modern warfare. When the war in Europe ended, Mr. Churchill issued a warning which, like many of his messages, has often been recalled. At that time Mr. Churchill said: "We may allow ourselves a brief period of rejoicing, but let us not for a moment forget the toils and efforts which lie ahead."

Problems Remain Grave And Urgent

It soon became clear that Mr. Churchill's warning was not an idle one, for the problems of peace have indeed been as grave and urgent as those of war. In addition, there is the well-known fact that in peace there is not the unity of purpose and the driving determination which unites people who are threatened by a common enemy. It cannot be expected that the same spirit can be maintained when there is no longer the necessity for constant action such as there is in time of war, but it is increasingly clear that an apathetic attitude on the part of the people toward the problems of the present day, will not lead to an enduring peace. During the war there were few people who were not familiar with daily developments in the news, for the progress of the fighting was of vital concern to everyone.

Leaders Need More Support

It should be fully realized now that the framing of the peace treaties and the deliberations of the foreign ministers when they meet may have the most far-reaching effects on the lives of the people here and in every country. It is extremely doubtful, however, whether they do arouse the interest they should and whether the leaders who must settle the tremendous problems of the day, have behind them the force of united and determined public opinion which could be a real factor in bidding a better world. Against the pessimism of these times there stands the United Nations Organization, which is a monument to the ideals for which the war was fought, and which is working steadily to establish the understanding and trust among people which are essential to world peace. Two years is a short time in which to accomplish the ideals toward which the U.N.O. is working. Suspicion and prejudice are deeply rooted in the human race, and it will take many years of patient effort to break them down, but with effort and determination it can be done. Apathy and cynicism will not help to build a finer world.

New Mexico Indian Reported To Have Lived For 137 Years

RUIDOSO, N.M. — Out of this southern New Mexico mountain resort country came the story of a Navajo Indian, Francisco Saliz, reputed to be 137 years old—and possibly the oldest living human being in North America.

The account came from a reporter, Mary Nell Tanager of the Ruidoso Weekly News, who interviewed Saliz and said she was convinced of his age.

She found Saliz living on a small farm near out-of-the-way Arabella, N.M., 40 miles northeast of here.

The old man makes his home with Simon Sanchez, 74, who related that his family first became acquainted with Saliz as a middle-aged man in the 1860s. The Navajo has been a family retainer since, serving Sanchez' mother until her death at 115 and remaining thereafter with the son.

Still active enough to get about with a cane, Saliz attends to all his personal needs and eats three meals a day with his third set of natural teeth.

"Too many people who have known him long years say this is a correct fact for there to be any mistake," Miss Tanager said.

EATS FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 16 YEARS — According to Jack Parks, of Orem, Utah, eating is "about the most wonderful thing in this world." Parks, who hasn't been able to eat or drink for 16 years, is shown being served milk by Nurse Claudia Sergeant at the Illinois Research hospital in Chicago, when Parks was 20 months old he swallowed some lye. He has received all nourishment until now via a tube through the abdominal wall into his stomach. Although Parks' diet is now confined to liquids, doctors say in a few months he will be able to eat solids.

Canadian Exhibits At British Fair Draw Inquiries

LONDON.—The Canadian exhibition at the British Industries' Fair here is drawing 32 "serious" inquiries daily from continental buyers. A. E. Bryan, Canadian commercial counselor at Canada House, said:

"These are inquiries from buyers who want newspaper, timber, chemicals, machinery—virtually everything we have to sell," he said in an interview at a reception at which Canadian trade commissioners in the United Kingdom were represented.

In addition, Bryan said, five British manufacturers a day were asking about the possibilities of exhibiting at the Canadian International Fair planned for 1948.

The Canadian Exhibition at the British Industries' Fair consists of "institutional" advertising, boosting Canada as a producing country, but not accepting orders for specific commodities.

"Well, no—he crawls under the sofa."

CANADA SPENDING SEVEN TIMES MORE ON RESEARCH THAN IN 1939

TORONTO.—The Canadian Government is spending on research over seven times as much as she did in 1939. Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of the National Research Council, Ottawa, told the Engineering Institute of Canada recently.

"While in engineering our facilities for graduate work on the doctorate level are still limited, there are today a considerable number of scientifically-trained engineers doing research work and the number is growing daily," said Dr. Mackenzie in an address at the institute's annual banquet. "Altogether, I feel confident about the future of Canadian industry and Canadian engineering."

He felt that the application of science for the use and convenience of mankind is still very much in its youth and that the young graduate of today can look forward to a life of professional adventure as exciting as any generation has known.

The approximately 1,500 undergraduate engineering students in the four to five faculties of applied science in Canadian universities in 1939 had grown to more than 10,000 today. More than one-third of the National Research Council scientific research staff were engineers. The outlook for the profession looked bright.

Buck Stayed By Doe Dying From Injuries

ST. CATHARINES, Ont.—Mournful calls penetrating the spring air one morning recently started investigation by number of farmers in the Ridgeway area. In a field nearby they found a full grown buck following in funeral tones over the body of a deer lying on the ground. The farmers approached cautiously and discovered the doe had been seriously injured. They called Provincial Constable Elmer Hoath to the scene and while they waited the buck stayed not a foot from his mate. Constable Hoath examined the injured animal and diagnosed the trouble as a painful, and serious back injury. He thought the doe had probably been struck by a car some hours earlier.

As the mournful cries of the buck had been heard for some hours it is assumed that he had stood guard over the writhing body of his mate all that time. There was only one thing to do and the officer did it. He administered the Coup de Grace with a merciful revolver shot. Only then did the buck, who seemed to know he had been deprived of his mate in the mating season, leave her side and with solemn majesty walk away.

These are inquiries from buyers who want newspaper, timber, chemicals, machinery—virtually everything we have to sell," he said in an interview at a reception at which Canadian trade commissioners in the United Kingdom were represented.

In addition, Bryan said, five British manufacturers a day were asking about the possibilities of exhibiting at the Canadian International Fair planned for 1948.

LONDON.—The Government confessed that Britons do not know how to make coffee for foreign palates.

Dr. Edith Summerskill, parliamentary spokesman for the Food Ministry, said under a barrage of questions in the House of Commons:

"I appreciate that coffee, as prepared in this country, is not to the liking of overseas visitors."

Members of Parliament had expressed concern because of the expected influx of American tourists. Tom Driberg, Labor, had asked her if she wouldn't instruct the country's cooks in the fine art of brewing coffee.

The smartly-groomed Dr. Summerskill referred one and all to the Ministry's widely-circulated "The ABC of Cooking," which gives four ways of making coffee.

One is called the "warm jug" method:

"Warm the jug. Add coffee and salt. Pour in boiling water and stand in a warm place for about 15 minutes. It is a good plan to stand the jug in a sauceron of boiling water. Stir the coffee and let it settle again. Strain if necessary, but do not boil. For straining, use a very fine coffee strainer or a piece of fine muslin."

India, less than half the area of Canada, has more than 30 times the population. (389,000,000 in 1941). One of every five persons in the world is an Indian.

SECOND FRONT—Samuel Martin, (above), secretary-general of the Hebrew committee of national liberation, is shown at the special press conference in the United Nations building at Flushing Meadows, N.Y., when he predicted that the displaced Jews of Europe will open a "second front" and begin an exodus to Palestine in support of the Jewish underground forces now active in the Holy Land.

Helpful Hints To Sheep Shearers

As a means of increasing the yield of high-grade wool, great care should be taken when the sheep are being shorn. By following the recommendations of the National Sheep Committee for handling fleece wool at shearing, the yield and profits may be increased through the prevention of damp, wet, and dirty wool appearing in the clip.

- These recommendations are:
- (a) Shear on a clean floor and avoid second cuts. In the case of sizeable range flocks, the holding pens should have slatted floors.
 - (b) Keep all short, hairy leg and face clippings away from the fleeces. If there is any quantity of these clippings pack them separately in a small sack.
 - (c) Spread fleece, flesh side down, on a slatted table or on a clean surface.
 - (d) Remove all tags, dung locks or muddy bellies. Pack separately.
 - (e) Remove any bellies that are very burry, chafy or stravy and also any other such badly affected fleece parts. Pack separately.
 - (f) Fold fleece twice from one side to bring back portion uppermost. Roll from britch to neck. The each fleece with one strand of paper twice. Never use binder or other alial twine.
 - (g) Any reject fleeces or fleece portions such as black, dead or damaged should be packed separately.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN ASKS PILGRIMAGE TO SOLDIERS' GRAVES

WASHINGTON.—President Truman suggested a pilgrimage by next-of-kin to visit the overseas graves of the Second World War heroes of the United States and see for themselves "that their dead shall rest in dignity and honor."

Some will want their dead brought home, he said, to lie in their native soil. And their wishes will be respected.

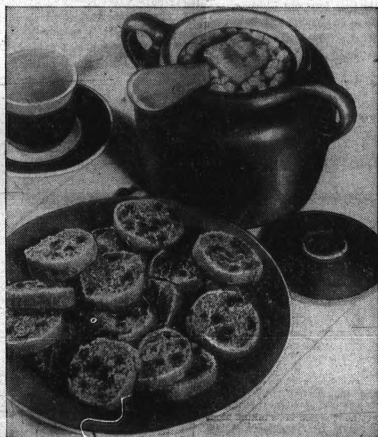

"I feel sure, however," he said in a statement, "that if they could see the care which is devoted to those who died in the First World War, and to the temporary cemeteries in which their own dead lie buried today, many of the next-of-kin would prefer that their loved ones should rest forever in the countries where they fell."

"I believe, therefore, that our government should make possible a pilgrimage to the permanent cemeteries overseas."

HISTORICAL FAIRS

Modern agricultural fairs in America date from colonial times when farmers put their products on display in market towns, primarily for sale.

Principal Indian exports are furs, cotton, hides, and skins, mica, manganese, tea and oil-seeds.

BRAN BROWN BREAD AND BAKED BEANS INSEPARABLE TEAM—It just seems that baked beans and Bran Brown Bread are a team of foods that go together. Especially it is a good filling combination for a spring supper, when the children plan to have their friends stay to eat with the family. This is a good basic menu, plus a big green salad and a hot vegetable, and a fruit dessert, if there is any room left! Bran Brown Bread has high nutritive value, because it contains bran, raisins and molasses, all excellent sources of iron so necessary for building good, rich blood.

Steam Bran Brown Bread
 1 cup All-Bran
 1/2 cup raisins
 1/2 cup buttermilk or sour milk
 1/2 cup soft flour
 1/2 cup sifted flour
 1/2 teaspoon soda
 Combine bran, raisins, buttermilk and molasses. Sift flour with soda and salt; add to first mixture, stirring until flour disappears. Fill greased cans two-thirds full; cover tops and steam for three hours. Yield: 2 loaves (4 1/2 inch cans, 2 1/2 inches in diameter).

GHOST BEHAVES LIKE A GENTLEMAN

PENCAITLAND, EAST LOTHIAN, Scotland.—The Society for the Recording of Abnormal Happenings is to investigate the behavior of the "ghost of a perfect gentleman" which haunts Pencaitland castle here.

Mrs. Holburn says that when she and her husband first went to live in the 16th-century house, they were often disturbed by the sound of heavy footsteps and the sound of something "heavy and soft" being dragged along the floor.

"As time went on," she told reporters, "the sounds became trivial and playful, and sometimes when there was a light continuous tapping my husband would call out: 'Now, John, that's childish, stop it!'"

"Then the sound invariably ceased and we called the ghost the 'perfect gentleman'."

She said John Cockburn was the name of a former owner of the castle "who came to a tragic end," but did not give details of his death.

boiling water which does not quite cover them and cook them in a tightly covered saucepan. Where spinach is concerned, no water is needed other than the moisture on the leaves after washing.

Save the water in which vegetables are cooked—use in cream soups, gravies and soups.

Never add soda to cooking vegetables. It may preserve the color but it destroys the vitamins.

Try to cook the right amount for each meal. This avoids waste and resultant expense. Also, storing and re-heating causes loss of vitamins.

GETS NEW TRIAL—Sidney George Chambers, 34, sentenced to hang June 6 for the murder of Marian Rusnak, nine, at St. Catharines, Ont., last December, has been granted a new trial in a judgment handed down by the court of appeal in Toronto. Father of an eight-year-old girl, Chambers was arrested Jan. 1 and charged with the murder of the Rusnak girl, who disappeared two days before Christmas while carrying home a toy drum for her brother. She was last seen by a neighbor, who told police she saw the child walking down the street with a tall slim man.

my Husband asked my choice

...and I said CHEVROLET

"Why was Chevrolet my choice? Because, like most women, when I shop my one idea is to get the most value for my money—and Chevrolet is the car that gives you just that. As far as beauty, comfort, and all-round quality are concerned, Chevrolet is way up there with the big cars. Yet when it comes to price—well, the price is so much lower it's hardly believable. And another thing I like—the upkeep cost won't strain our family budget! Yes, my choice was Chevrolet, and my husband says I couldn't have chosen better.

Big Car value in small details, too! Most Chevrolet models have retractable aerial straps, ventilating rear-quarter windows, ash receptacle set into the top of the instrument panel, and either one or two in the rear passenger compartment.
